Infesting People

April 2014
Volume 35, Issue 4

The work that Sheryl and I find ourselves doing is infesting people with the reality that we are all responsible for the choices we make. Many people don't catch personal responsibility from growing up - so it is a new thought.

Part of our time is spent traveling and speaking to groups of people. We really enjoy this face to face connection. It allows us to look in the eyes of people and see the light of hope begin to dawn as they realize that what they have been struggling with does not need to be a constant in their lives.

Another part of our time is spent on the phone talking with people who have gone through a seminar and are wanting more help making these truths a part of their daily life. This is also good as it allows us to work one on one - even at great distance - and spend the time necessary to walk a person through the changes.

Last week I was on the phone with Linda and she told me this story.

Linda had a group of people at her home and as they were leaving she noticed Paula taking pictures of the "standards" for her family that were posted on her kitchen wall.

As they started talking Linda was able to share the truths behind those "standards" and the effect they had had on her family.

The result was a great conversation with Paula and a time has been set up for Linda to sit down with Paula and begin the process of mentoring.

The beauty of this process is that we are not involved. Linda and Paula are able to do this totally on their own - and that has been our goal from the beginning.

There are pockets of people who have been exposed to this truth in many parts of the United States. There are people in Guyana, South America, who are talking about choices today. England and Germany have been infected by John and Sally and we have talked with a lady who wants to spread "the germs" she received from us as she teaches parenting classes in China.

Thank you for allowing us the joy of infesting people with the truth that we are responsible for the choices we make. And just like a disease, as people infect those around them with this truth, the ideas we are presenting will spread faster and go farther than we could ever have taken them.

And, as we teach these truths, it opens people up to the idea that the most important choice we make in this life, is trusting Jesus to be our Savior.

Your support, both through finances and prayer, make all of this possible.

In His grip,

John

Answered Prayer

Our Trip to Texas and Arkansas went great with no accidents or breakdowns to report. We are praising God for His faithfulness!

We were in Oregon last week to celebrate my mothers 90th birthday.

What a good time!

Prayer Requests

We have a S.A.Y. Yes! Training scheduled for the first of May. Pray that the people God wants to attend will be there.

There are many possibilities for Seminars in the future. Pray that as we finalize these plans that God would be in the timing and glorified with the result.

As we broaden the scope of the seminar pray that God would be in our plans, helping us choose a new name and pick the right words to infect the most people.
