NO WAY!

Several people have asked, "Is your move to Texas because of retirement?"

The short answer is -

"NO IT IS NOT".

Living in Texas will mean:

- We will be more central in the "lower" 48 states.
- We can fly anywhere in the world from Dallas.
- It seems there are more open doors for ministry in the Dallas area than there have been in Los Angeles.

There is tremendous work still to do and looking at ministry for the next 20 years is very exciting to us.

From our perspective, the ministry of "Life Is Full Of Choices" is still in it's beginning. The seminars we have done in China and England have reinforced the reality that people are the same everywhere, with the same needs and the same challenges. The way people respond to the message of Life Is Full Of Choices tell us that we need to continue to talk about being responsible for our choices and helping people find hope for their future.

It is exciting because there are three other couples that are moving to the Dallas area to work with S.A.Y. Yes! as we have done here. It is their desire and ours to help inner city churches start and run a ministry to help children, youth and parents in their neighborhoods.

The future looks very busy as we work to train and develop more leaders to reach out to others with the excitement of an intimate relationship with God. We pray that God will lead us to individuals who have a hunger to grow closer to Jesus and then share that relationship with others.

We want to finish well.

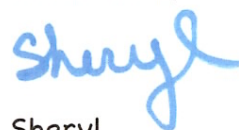

Most of the people we work with can not afford to pay for help: Individuals with addicted behaviors, parents, people who work in churches, and other organizations. We want to be able to ministry to anyone and everyone without having to charge.

Your continued support makes that possible.

Someone once said, "I will rest when I get to heaven, until then I will not stop - EVER - doing the ministry God has given me to do." This is our hearts cry.

John and I covet your prayers for us as we sort, pack, sell and give away our belongings and move to Texas. Together (you, John and I), we will be looking with excitement for what God will do in us and through us, each and every day!

In His arms,

Sheryl
